NOTES AND COMMENTS.

A NEW WEAPON.

According to an article published in the San Francisco Call, which we reproduce in another column, the American authorities have come to the conclusion that they will have to starve the Filipinos into the submission. In fact, a scrutiny of the Manila papers of the last month or so will serve to show that this method has already been adopted, for they contain accounts of the want of supplies prevailing in the interior and the great scarcity of food. Of course, these accounts are mere hearsay, as the representatives of the papers have not been there to see. It also appears that they are not correct, for the two Englishmen who have been lately sent to Manila by Aguinaldo draw a very different picture of the state of affairs prevailing in the Province to that put forward by the Manila Press. The Manila correspondent of our morning contemporary, referring to the reports of these two men says, "They report the northern provinces to be literally rolling in excess of produce, as the closing of ports has kept all the food stuffs in the country." Now these two men can have no reason for not speaking the truth. Doubtless it would have been more acceptable to the Americans to hear that the Filipinos were reduced to the last stage of starvation, but they say nothing of the kind and draw a very flowery picture of the state of the country. This being the case it is reasonable to suppose that the Americans have a much bigger job on hand than they imagined, for if their starvation scheme comes to nothing it will mean that they will have to contest every inch of the ground and in that case it is exceedingly unlikely that the Filipinos will be beaten before the next meeting of Congress, as President McKinley appears to fondly hope will be the case. It is evident that the blockade has been ineffective and that the Filipinos have received a large amount of arms and will therefore be in a much stronger position to meet the United States troops than before the rainy season commenced.

PECULIAR REASONING.

The Call is also very wrath with the Filipinos because they elected Mayors who were in favour of Aguinaldo, and think that this only serves to show that they are insensible to any high appreciation of the purpose for which they are permitted to vote at all. We have always understood that a man was allowed to vote as he pleased and that he was not obliged to vote for the Government in return for the great honour of being allowed to vote at all. But to the Call this idea appears to be nonsensical; if a man is given a vote he must follow in the footsteps of the man who has given it to him and must not use his own judgement. When these Mayors were elected there was a great flourish of trumpets made in the United States and it was predicted that once the Filipinos saw how their wishes were being consulted that their war would be at an end. The result has proved to be otherwise, however, and has simply served to show how thoroughly devoted to the cause of Aguinaldo are one and all of the Filipinos. The Call itself takes care to show that the Mayors had nothing to fear from the Filipino President, and yet they preferred to stick to their colours and risk a bullet at the hands of Americans. The whole affair has been a gigantic mistake from beginning to end and the extermination of half the population, which the Call appears to think will be the only way out of the difficulty, will be the biggest mistake of all. It will only serve to make the task of the Americans harder than it is at present and will mean a tremendous expenditure of treasure and life upon their part. Let matters be played in their true light before the people of the United States and not coloured by persons who are desirous to keep the war alive for their own gain. The fact that Aguinaldo has been cheered in the United States is significant, and where the true facts of the situation only clearly known we fancy that the expansionist party would receive a severe check.

GEORGE STEVENS, a private in the Royal Welch Fusiliers, was this morning sentenced to a month's imprisonment for behaving in a disorderly manner in the public street, and fourteen days for assaulting Chan Tai, a risk-sha coolie.

Katsuyama, Imperial architect of Japan, is visiting the Philippines. He is the United States. Mr. Katsuyama's object is to place contracts for structural steel to be used in a new palace to be erected at Tokyo for the Crown Prince of Japan.

It is officially announced that on and after Sept. 1st the postage on prepaid letters to the Cape of Good Hope will be one penny per half-ounce. The Australian Colonies, New Zealand, and Rhodesia are now the only British possessions of importance which have not adopted the penny postage scheme.

ABOUT three o'clock on the 21st, says the Straits Times, a life sentenced prisoner named Loh Ah Fong escaped from the island where he had been sentenced to death in December, 1897, for murder, but was subsequently recaptured, and sent to the island with a number of other prisoners.

DYSENTERY in Japan appears to have claimed already nearly 12,000 victims this year. The official investigation made by the Central Sanitary Bureau shows that the total number of cases reported from the 1st January last to the 14th inst. was 59,318, with 11,788 deaths. These figures include 607 cases and 138 deaths reported from this prefecture.

The ban' clerks are agitating for another holiday. They claim that the five months between the August Bank Holiday and Boxing-day is too long for a single stretch, and desire a break in October. The movement is already taking shape, and Sir John Lubbock, the father of bank holidays, is to be requested to introduce the scheme to the House of Commons.

THIS morning while a gentleman was passing through Beaufield Arcade, a small terrier ran out from one of the shops and bit him on the calf. The gentleman, after seeing which house the dog went into, immediately consulted a doctor, had the wound attended to, and was greatly reassured by being informed that hydrophobia was unknown in Hongkong. It is much to be hoped that the future will be as free from this awful disease as the past.

YU FOO of No. 101, Hollywood Road, ground-floor, was summoned for being the owner of No. 1 and 11 Shin Hing Lane and unlawfully making default in complying with a notice served upon him by the Sanitary Board requiring him to reconstruct the said building with proper and sufficient openings for light and ventilation. Defendant stated he had sold the premises on 25th ultimo; notice was served on the 14th and did not expire till the 25th. The sale was registered in the Land office on 29th. Cases dismissed.

THE U. S. transport Ohio arrived this morning from Manila with about 500 American troops on board, comprising the Nevada Cavalry and discharged men from other regiments. The Nevada will probably be about the last of the volunteers to reach the United States as when they left Manila none were left save the Tennessee regiment, who have by this time taken their departure. The Ohio takes on the men left there by the Tatar and leaves this evening for San Francisco, calling in at Guam and Honolulu. No complaints as to overcrowding this time.

HENRY RIXON, a private in the Royal Marine Light Infantry, was fined $5 for an assault on Wong Kwok U, a schoolmaster, on the first instant. Complainant stated that he was a master in Queen's College and yesterday had gone into the Stag Hotel for dinner. Defendant was playing at billiards and complainant stopped to look at the game. Defendant asked him what he was staring at. Complainant said his eyes were given him to see with. Defendant said "—you—Chinaman, what are you?" Complainant said he was as good as he was. Hence the assault, in which the poor Chinaman got slightly damaged and lost his spectacles.

OUR Peking native correspondent writes concerning the recent sudden dismissal of H.E. Hu Ping-chih from the Shansi Governorship, that the action was one merely of spleen on the part of the Empress Dowager. He states that the Government being unable, through incapacity and timidity, to prevent Shansi from being over-run by foreign syndicates and explorers, required some scape-goat, and so chose the Shansi Governor to be the one. It appeared that the official record of ex-Governor Hu Ping-chih was singularly free from "black marks" and it is reported that his friends in Peking intend to bring the question before the Empress Dowager and ask for him to be reinstated.—N. C. Daily Press.

News is to hand that Mr. "Johnny" F. Sheridan passed Colombo on the 10th Sept. on his way to Australia, and will open his tour of the Colonies at Sydney on the 14th inst. In the near future it is probable that he will pay Hongkong and the East a visit. He has a large repertoire of all the latest musical plays. The successful drama, "When the lamps are lighted," by G. R. Sims, is amongst his stock, and is highly spoken of by the entire English press. In this Mr. Sheridan impersonates several characters of various nations with great success. We are sure those who have seen him once as Mrs. Block in "Little Christopher Columbus," played at the London Lyric for over 500 nights) would like to see him in that rôle again. All who have had the pleasure of seeing Mr. Sheridan will, we are sure, wish him all the success he deserves.

SPEAKING of the relief of the Powerful by the Terrible a home paper says:—"At last some real work is to be found for the monster cruiser Terrible, which was laid down as long ago as 1895, and has almost continuously been either in the hands of the Portsmouth Dockyard men or running more or less successful trials since she was nominally completed for sea. Orders have now been given for her to proceed to the China station, where she will replace the sister cruiser Powerful, which has recently been justifying her existence. As the Powerful is to start for home almost immediately, the squadron will be temporarily weakened until the Terrible reaches Hongkong; and in view of the behaviour of the ship on the only occasions that she has been at sea, it is very uncertain how long she will take making the voyage, which, in coal alone, will cost some £40,000, and £1,000."

On the 21st at Singapore, Mr. Farrer-Baynes, on behalf of the firm of Max Glinder & Co., applied for a warrant of arrest against Edwin Schleuer, the manager of their firm, on allegations of criminal breach of trust. The warrant was granted, and cable messages were at once sent to Penang and Colombo.

THIS morning at the Magistracy Messrs. D. Sassoon & Co., as agents for R. M. Moses Esq., paid $50 on six summonses for unlawfully failing to lime-wash their property during the months of July and August. Mr. Shelton Hooper, Secretary to the Land Investment Co., paid $100 for a similar offence.

WE understand that there are at present three English firms now in Hongkong, making borings to ascertain the nature of the bottom of the harbour, so as to make a tender for the extension of the Naval Yard. The basin and dry Dock will extend 100 feet from low water mark and will take between five and seven years to complete.

GOOD old China has scored another point. All must have noticed the holes in a Chinese rudder and wondered what was the use of them. When questioned the only reason a Chinaman could give was "old custom" and was therefore considered an idiot. Now, in England it has been decided to build the oars for racing boats with holes in their blades as it has been proved that oars so constructed offer equal resistance to the water while greatly reducing the weight. This is important, as it must be remembered that lead has to be run into the handle to balance the oar.

THE war with Spain disposed Americans to stay at home last year like good patriots. This year, the air being clear and all the boats plying freely, they have swarmed upon London, the ingress eclipsing that of Jubilee year. From all parts of North America they have come, rejoicing in what they are pleased, in their jocund way, to call "lukewarm" weather.

The term was employed by one of Oliver Wendell Holmes's "glorious Yankee girls." It is supposed that the number of American visitors to Europe is not fewer than 100,000 this year.

THIS morning at the Magistracy Chen Kwan E, living in Caine Road, appeared on a summons, for he being the owner of No. 5 Tung Tak Lane, unlawfully did make default in complying with a notice served upon him by the Sanitary Board on the 29th April, 1899, requiring him to reconstruct the said building with proper and sufficient openings for light and ventilation. Defendant appeared on similar summonses of numbers 6, 7, and 8, Tung Tak Lane.

Inspector Brett gave evidence of having served the notices.

Dr. Clark, Medical Officer of Health gave evidence of the insanitary condition of the dwellings.

His Worship gave the following judgement:—"The nuisance proved being such as to render the basement floors of houses Nos. 5, 6, 7, and 8 Tung Tak Lane, in my judgement, unfit for human habitation, I hereby prohibit the using of the said basement floors for such purpose until, in my judgement, they have been rendered fit for human habitation."

THE V. R. C. Football Team, following the example of the Hongkong Football Club, has arranged a six-sided contest amongst its players and has secured the excellent entry of 42. No kind gentleman has, as yet, offered to present prizes, but in the event of no one coming forward, these will be purchased out of the club funds. EXPLANATION BY MR. F. H. MAY.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "HONGKONG TELEGRAPH."

SIR,—With regard to that I am reported to have said respecting the Insanitary Properties Bill at the Meeting of the Sanitary Properties Committee on the 28th inst. I am sorry to say that there is no foundation for the report which had reached me to the effect that some influence was being brought to bear to block this Bill, and that the Land Investment Co. wished to build certain houses before the Bill became law. I have therefore to express my regret for the observations made by me.

Yours obediently, F. H. MAY.

Hongkong, September 24th, 1899.

TRIP TO MACAO.

PROCESSION OF N. S. DO ROSARIO.

Yesterday being the day appointed for the annual procession of our Lady of Rosario, the Hongkong, Canton and Macao Steamboat Co. put their fine paddle-wheel steamer Honam at the disposal of excursionists. She is a large boat, capable of steaming 16 knots an hour, but as there was no special cause for hurry she was driven comfortably at about 12 knots, arriving at Macao shortly after noon, having left Hongkong at nine. A very pleasant breeze was blowing; both going and on the journey back, not strong enough to cause her to roll, though some few with weak stomachs had to take refuge on the hospital side of the ship.

On arrival at Macao those who had been there before and knew their way about, immediately started to make arrangements for the excursionists, the supply of that "necessity of life," bread running short as early as 4 p.m. Macao is not Hongkong, so the supply could not be replenished. At Hong Kong's places were found for about 40 to sit down the others having to wait for their turn at a table became vacant. Those at the end of the line, facing badly with half cold victuals and careless attendants.

After tiffin had been disposed of, sight seeing was the order, and small parties sauntered off in different directions. Those who had brought their wheels, not many however, took a ride into the surrounding country, which is level and has good roads. I should not however advise a novice to take a bicycle with him as the streets in the city, though well paved, are narrow, hilly and remarkably full of corners, it being much simpler and easier to charter a ricksha and make the coolie unceremoniously deposit you where you want to be deposited. If chance an energetic individual should try to find his own way to the desired locality, the only understandable answer to his enquiries will be the ricksha can take him. The streets are clean and the odours so prevalent in the Chinese quarter of this city are conspicuous by the absence.

The more sensible people started making arrangements for dinner, unless they wished to have the long tedious wait that they had for tiffin; this was not so easy as, at first sight, it appears, there are only two hotels and both were equally crowded. Fortunately at the Boa Vista the bar-tender knew of a Chinese eating house where European meals could be arranged, be obtained and after giving as a paper with instructions written in Chinese characters, told us our rickshas would take us, the name of the shop being "Hing Sing," but the name of the street in which it was located being hard to discover. We therefore, after some difficulty, found the shop, made the necessary arrangements and went off to see the procession with contented minds.

All who have been to Macao know the market place and the church of San Domingo, from which place the procession started to make its circuit of the city. A service was held in the church, the interior being tastefully decorated with evergreens and flowers and lighted by candles. The altar especially looked pretty, as behind the cross standing above the altar were innumerable lighted candles reaching almost up to the roof of the building; these in the solemn dusky light of the sacred edifice seemed like stars to show the weary wanderer his path to a resting place above. After the service, the procession was formed and started from the church a little after five. Men with banners, having biblical pictures relative to Our Lord's nativity and prayers inscribed upon them, took the lead, followed shortly after by priests bearing the Holy Host with its escort, then came some pretty little girls, led by adults, dressed with wings to represent angels. These were followed by a miniature statue of the Virgin Mary, in a silver canopy carried on the shoulders of four priests. Then came the boys from St. Joseph's College, Macao, dressed in clerical garments, the elder ones singing appropriate hymns in Latin. The church body came next with its Lordship the Bishop. As he came past, the band from the Portuguese Army, in full dress, started to play and every head was bowed. The band brought up the rear.

At 7.30 we went to Hing Sing's shop rather doubtful of the success of the excursion of a European dinner in a Chinese eating house. We had agreed to pay $12 a head and of course were obliged to leave the menu to our host's tender mercies. We were, however, thankful that we had done so. The place was clean and every dish was served up scrupulously so. The Honam left Macao punctually at 10 and arrived at Hongkong soon after one, and so finished an enjoyable day only slightly marred by lack of accommodation for meals. We should advise our readers, if not unwilling to dispense with formality and style, when on arrival at Macao, and feeling hungry to take a ricksha and say the words "Hing Sing."

HONGKONG FOOTBALL CLUB.

By the six-side teams given below, followers of the H.F.C. will notice there are several new players in the ranks this season. If they are the standard players of last year's shield winners the club should have a very successful season. The six-sided games commence this evening.

NEWS FROM JAPAN.

The following are culled from Japanese exchanges:

Tokyo Harbour.

About twenty-five years have elapsed since the talk of constructing a harbour for Tokyo began to be seriously listened to. A foreign resident of Tsukiji was then the chief promoter of the scheme, and his project was understood to be feasible. But it appears that such a work would have been premature at that time. Since then the subject has crept up from time to time in a nebulous and impractical manner, and the public have learned to class it as part of the programme of "Dreamland Tokyo." Recently, however, there seemed to be some possibility of an earnest effort. Two prominent citizens of Tokyo proposed to undertake works of reclamation and improvement which would have provided a good anchorage in the vicinity of Shinagawa. It is understood that both these schemes were rejected by the Municipality. We now learn that Mr. Furuchi, Chief Engineer of the Department of Home Affairs, is engaged upon a project which he expects to have finished in three or four months. His work at present is confined to the general outlines of the scheme, and doubtless the detailed plan will require a tolerably long interval for elaboration. Nothing is said about the cost of this new project or about its exact nature, but there is some satisfaction to be derived from the fact that the matter has been placed in the hands of a man so competent and energetic as Mr. Furuchi.

Foreigners and Mining Enterprise in Japan.

Not certainly in the columns of Shogya Shimpō, usually an emigrant liberal journal, should we have looked for a protest against the rumoured amendment of the Mining Law in the sense of removing the restrictions upon foreign enterprise. The Shogya grants that Japanese capital is quite unequal to the task of exploiting the mineral resources of the country; that foreign capital would readily be forthcoming for the purpose, and that many mines now abandoned and others unopened would become productive in foreign hands. Yet it shrinks from the prospect. It believes that all the mines in the country would ultimately pass into the hands of foreigners; that the profits made by working them would go abroad, and that nothing would remain to Japan except the wages of the workmen. Perhaps the Shogya has not considered that the question lies between wealth absolutely unutilized and wealth turned to profitable purposes. Perhaps, also, it has not considered that the gains realized in mining are seldom more than a moderate percentage of the capital sunk; that only those gains would leave the country; that the minerals being sold outside Japan, the profits accruing on them would not come out of Japan; that the price paid for the privilege of working the mines would be so much clear gain to Japan, and that if the exceedingly timid policy is to be pursued of excluding the foreigner merely because he has more capital to invest than the Japanese, and because he knows better how to get a good return on it, Japan ought to turn her back at once on all progressive measures.

The "America Maru."

The Jiji Shimpō seems determined to create a sensation about the America Maru incident. It set its cartoonist to work yesterday, and it produced a species of dissolving scene. In one picture we have the captain diagnosing the ship's condition before she sailed. She is represented as carrying in her frame-work an ogre whose head protrudes from the sides of the legs and arms protruding from the sides of the vessel. The captain, with an enormous nose and a very self-sufficient face, stands at the prow, watch in hand, feeling the ogre's pulse and looking, at his tongue, which, as it protrudes is accompanied by a thin column of smoke. At the stern stands a Japanese passenger unwilling to embark. The second scene depicts the vessel on her return to port. The ogre is belching flames, the crew are taking to the rigging, the captain's nose has lost its pride of position and is curled in terrified horror, and the Japanese passenger has his tongue in his cheek. Our contemporary considers that the occurrence may reflect very seriously on the competence of the Japanese to manage sea-going steamers, and possibly for that reason it assigns to the captain the chief part in sending the vessel to sea. The incident will of course form the subject of a court of inquiry, and we shall then know who is really responsible. In the meanwhile all this excitement seems premature.

A Denial of China-Japan Alliance from America.

On August 25th, according to the Japan Gazette, Mr. D. W. Stevens, Chancellor of the Japanese Legation at Washington, addressed a letter to the Sun, denying in positive terms the story of an alleged alliance between Japan and China that led to the protest from Russia. He says in part: "It may be stated in the most positive and unequivocal terms that Japan and China have not concluded a treaty of alliance. It follows in all probability, therefore, that the Russian Minister never felt that there was any occasion for a protest upon the subject. The errand of the commission which recently went from Shanghai to Japan was in reality, as well as ostensibly, of a purely commercial character, in fact, it is something of a misnomer to term the persons who composed it commissioners, because they were not sent by the Chinese Government, were not officially received by the Japanese Government, and exercised no official functions in Japan. At least of all any of a diplomatic nature. It is happily the case that of late years the relations of China and Japan have grown more intimate and cordial than they ever were before. Every one will acknowledge that Japan has a legitimate interest in the commercial and industrial status of China. There is but little to choose between her position and that of the United States, or of Great Britain."

The Fame of the Kobe Coolie.

The Kobe coolie is looming large in the world. The London Times described him quite recently, and the London and China Express now joins in the conspiracy to give him fame. This is what the Express says: "The insolence, quarrelsomeness, and occasional brutality of the Japanese coolie, especially at Kobe, has been a subject of frequent complaint, and calls for sharp repression at the hands of magistrates and police, lest worse ensue. No doubt the war with China affected the Japanese more profoundly than people in this country perceived. When men sufficiently educated to write articles could be found to discuss the prospect of Japan conquering the world, we need not be surprised if a Kobe coolie got into ideas too. 'Always' willing to find an excuse, the Times correspondent suggests that the evil influence of the insatiable ways of the average foreigner may have been a factor in the problem. But that is an explanation which falls to cover the ground. It might account for a new-born refusal on the part of individual coolies to submit to improper treatment previously endured; but it would not account for displays of unprovoked cowardice against unoffending foreigners, sometimes ladies, unless on the supposition of innate blackguardism previously suppressed or veneered. That there is 'a class of foreigners who imagine that everything Oriental belongs to an inferior order of creation and should be treated accordingly' is unfortunately beyond dispute. We cordially join in impressing upon such the attentances of the Japanese rulers have a converse side.

LATE PHILIPPINE REPORTS.

Two extended reports of the Philippine situation have recently been published. One relates to the necessities of the military situation and its requirements. That situation arises in the practically unanimous devotion of the people to the cause represented by Aguinaldo. It is announced that in order to bring the people to their senses a strict coast and inland blockade has been found necessary to cut off food supplies and starve into submission the non-military supporters of the Aguinaldo Government. Spain always found this policy necessary in dealing with her disobedient subjects in the Philippines and in Cuba. Weyler applied it with a strictness and severity which decimated the population, but even then it did not succeed. The resources of Spain and her power to make such a policy successful did not equal ours, and there is no doubt that we can, not only continue to prevent as we have in the field operations against those people, but that we can strike them far more fatally and effectively by starvation. They are a dense population. They are apparently united and will fight as long as they can. They have a deadly climate as their ally. When we use starvation as ours, we have the odds by reason of our superior strength and inexhaustible military resources. The island of Cuba has only a million and a half of people and it was estimated that Weyler had disabled more than half of them by starvation and had by that means destroyed the lives of a quarter of a million. That we can do better than this in the Philippines is the well-settled opinion of our military authorities, as shown by the dispatches referred to.

The other report is on a subject collateral to the foregoing. It is to the effect that members of the Peace Commission held elections for Mayor in several cities on Luzon. Under their authority the people of San Pedro Macate, Baling, Imus and some other cities elected Mayors, who took charge of the municipal governments and their revenues. In every case it was found that the voters had chosen active sympathizers with Aguinaldo, who at once proceeded to use their power and resources in his interest. To stop this they had to be arrested by our military authorities and put in jail in Manila. It is said their trial for treason will follow and we suppose they will be shot, as an admonition to their successors. These events show the deep seated support of Aguinaldo by those people. The cities named are within our lines, where no threats nor terrorism by Aguinaldo could reach them. They were sure of our military protection against him and yet they proved to be as thoroughly subject to his influence and in sympathy with his purposes as if they were within his lines and accessible by his vengeance. The devastation of their fields and the effective application of the policy of rigid starvation seems to be all that is left to our military authorities to reach their case.

The last dispatch commenting on this says that these occurrences have ended all ideas of leniency among the Americans. Their patience has evaporated as Weyler's did, and they are fully prepared to put in force the only policy that has ever found effective. The dense population renders this easier than it looks. The food resources of tropical countries are not good. The work in Philippine fields is mostly done by Chinese, and the exclusion order of General Otis, forbidding Chinese to come, is a severe blow in line with the new policy of reducing the population by starvation and using hunger to humble the spirit of the survivors. On the sentimental side of it, the argument is properly made that starvation as a part of military tactics cannot increase our popularity among the people. They are practically unapproachable against us now, and their sentiments cannot be changed by anything we do or leave undone. When men of the high scholastic standing held by the members of our Peace Commission conduct elections among them and they persist in electing the candidates who agree with the native aspirations, it is plain that they are insensible to any high appreciation of the purpose for which they are permitted to vote at all.—S. F. Call.

WILL RUSSIA SHUT OUT ALL FOREIGN SHIPPING.

A SENSATIONAL ANNOUNCEMENT.

A writer in the Fortnightly signing himself "S," gives his second instalment on Russia's great naval enterprise, the connection by canal of the Baltic and Black Sea. He declares the ideal of Russian policy "involves the exclusion of foreign competition." He observes in an aside, "Did the United Powers adopt a policy similar to that of Russia, we should soon hear suggestions from St. Petersburg for a Free Trade Conference at the Hague." Among Russia's preliminary measures the writer mentions the new law restricting the right to trade between Russian ports and Russian vessels so as to secure the local carrying trade for the guarantee of the Russian Government to refund all dues levied on Russian vessels passing the Suez Canal to or from the Far East, and the abnormal duties placed on imported goods. Russia is beginning to close her ports to foreign shipping, we are told. Sevastopol will be closed to shipping on the 1st of next September. The remarkable progress made in the last few years has been arrested, and trade annihilated by a single act against which there is no appeal. Russia professes to have her naval and commercial ports on the mainland; where she has the country behind her; such is the suggestion. The writer advances this categorical statement:—

Now a decree has been issued, but not yet officially published, by which the principal ports in the Black Sea, the Baltic, and the Far East, are to be permanently closed to foreign vessels in 1901.

For some time past there have been rumours to this effect, but I am able to state, on reliable authority, that this measure has been decided on. With the exception of Nicolayev on the Black Sea, of Danilovsk and Constanza in the Baltic, and Vladivostok in the Far East. I am not able to name these ports, though the decree includes others which are wholly commercial. It is for this reason that large sums of money have been voted to make harbours, which are practically to be dug out on the coast of the Crimea. By closing her ports Russia has two definite objects in view: if trade follows the course taken by foreign shipping, foreign enterprise will soon create a flourishing commerce of commerce, and Russia has great need of them; if the old-established centres continue to receive foreign trade, which is not unlikely with tariffs militating in their favour, she will secure the carrying trade. If this law be permitted to come into operation, it will be nothing less than a calamity for Europe, but on this head I do not propose to enlarge further, than is absolutely necessary to show what a powerful instrument this waterway will be in enabling Russia to carry on her campaign against foreign shipping. Scattered along the coast, foreign shipping will gradually decrease in proportion as Russia is able to do without it, and the produce of other countries will be excluded in due proportion as Russia augments her own.

MORE MAIL NEWS.

The following are taken from our London exchanges:—

Tea from the States.

AMERICA TO RIVAL CEYLON AS A TEA-GROWING COUNTRY.

NEW YORK, August 22nd. Many experts here believe that America is destined to be one of the great rivals of China and Ceylon in the production of tea. The experimental tea garden of 50 acres at Summerville, S.C., is declared by the Government experts in charge to be a complete success. The product has all the flavour of the choicer Oriental brands. It was feared that the labour problem would prove fatal to the success of the plantation, but negro children have now been trained into successful tea-pickers.

Coming Seamen's Strike.

MEN REFUSING TO "SIGN ON" BELIEVING THEIR DEMANDS WILL BE MET. According to the Central News Liverpool correspondent when seamen and firemen were yesterday asked to sign for service on several liners they refused, in view of the strike on Monday next.

Monday is the day on which the men sign for the White Star liners, but as the new steamer Oceanic sails next Wednesday the owners sought to engage men at once, and before the strike took effect.

The latter refused in a body to sign. The Dominion liner Cambrian and the Cunarder Sylvania were also unable to get crews.

The men are sanguine that their demands will be conceded.

The Milan Trial.

JUDGES ORDERED TO PRONOUNCE THE SEVEREST PENALTY. PART, Thursday. A special dispatch from Belgrade says that King Alexander has ordered the three judges composing the Court-martial to pronounce the severest penalty possible against the persons accused of attempting to assassinate the ex-King Milan.

The Exchange Telegraph Company states that, according to a telegram from Belgrade, ex-King Milan has disbanded the regiment of which the Prince of Montenegro was honorary colonel. It is reported that ex-King Milan's mother, Queen Natalie, has addressed a long letter to him, asking him not to act foolishly.

New Armour Plate.

SUCCESSFUL TRIALS WITH A SECRET COMPOSITION.

Some important experiments have just been concluded at Shoeburyness with the new armour plate made at the Royal Arsenal, Woolwich. The outer plate is 6 in. thick, and made of the best steel, the backing consisting of 3 in. of a special composition, the nature of which is being kept secret.

These new plates were fired at with a 350 lb. projectile at a distance of 200 yards. When black powder was used the armour plate was, after several shots, found to be practically unharmed, the shot being in some instances reduced to powder by the force of the impact. With cordite it was found that the outer plate could be penetrated three inches, and under certain circumstances, the shot went right through; but the severest tests failed to crack the plate. In naval warfare a hole made by a shot below the water-line can always be plugged up, but cracked and split armour-plates necessitate dry docking and new plates.

When two shots were fired simultaneously, hitting the plate two feet apart, there was still no sign of fracture.

Judge French Fined.

FOR BATHING AT FELIXSTOWE WITH INSUFFICIENT COVERING. At Woodbridge Petty Sessions recently Judge French, of the Bow and Shoreditch County Court, was charged with bathing off the sea beach at Felixstowe without sufficient dress.

The evidence showed that on Sunday afternoon defendant went into the water in view of the visitors with very slight covering. The chairman of the District Council remonstrated with him, and asked for defendant's name and address. This was refused, but subsequently the necessary information was obtained, and a summons issued.

The defendant did not appear, but sent a letter expressing regret. He was fined 40s. and costs, or seven days.

"Shamrock's" Challenge.

REGARDED AS A BIG ADVERTISEMENT FOR SIR THOMAS LIPTON.

NEW YORK, Wednesday. Sir Thomas Lipton's Shamrock, now lying at Tomkinsville, looks decidedly handsome, having been newly painted. She had her racing rig adjusted today. She is not so graceful, however, as Columbia. The experts have been allowed information as to her depth.

The trial spins will probably be postponed till Sir Thomas Lipton arrived on Saturday. Every available water craft has been chartered for the race.

The Government authorities have promised to insure an unhampered course. Mr. Barrie, Sir T. Lipton's representative, says Sir Thomas prefers to win not all but only two events.

An amusing feature of the contest is the insistent belief among many here that Sir Thomas Lipton is merely engaging in a huge advertising scheme. Accordingly a weekly periodical has offered $20,000 to have its name adopted as the name of the yacht instead of Shamrock.

New York Chicago merchants are making overtures to have their soaps and infants' food painted on the sails.

Soudan Rebels Routed.

MAHDI'S TWO SONS AMONGST THE KILLED. The following telegram giving particulars of renewed fighting in the Soudan has been received at the Foreign Office from Sir J. R. Roid, secretary to Lord Cromer:—

"Soudan reports Mahdist insurrection on the Blue Nile, instigated by the Khalifa Mohamed Usher, and two sons of the Mahdi allowed to live under supervision at the village of Shukaba."

In consequence of news received of communications with Menal Daghieh, Arabs Capt. Seyth on the 27th determined to arrest Cherif, and surrounded Shukaba with troops.

They were met with a warm fire, and charged by Dervishes. Mohamed Cherif and Mahdi's two sons were killed. Village was burned and 15 prisoners taken. "Troops behaved admirably, one officer and two men being wounded."

A Queer Parcel.

CHILD SENT FROM LONDON TO CARDIFF WITH A LABEL ATTACHED. The inquiry of the railway officials at the Great Western Railway station, Cardiff, was taxed on Tuesday night as to what to do with a queer parcel that had arrived by the London train.

The parcel was a little girl of six, and it—rather, she—was labelled "Child of Mrs. Mealing, at Cardiff station; if not there, please keep her in the waiting-room."

There was no one on the platform or in the waiting-room to receive the mite—whose pretty looks gained for her the name of "Lilly" from the police and police.

Being too young, says a Western Mail representative who saw the waif, she was able to give but a slight and fragmentary account of herself and history. So far as could be ascertained, her father is a carpenter or mason (he "works with wood and stones"), and she had been living in London with her auntie, Mrs. Sarjeant.

She had one sister, Florrie, but there—she was "only a baby," and was "over in Wales" with "mummy." Almost in the same breath she said "mummy" was in Bath, and that city was so deeply impressed upon the child's mind that there must be something in it. Anyway, it afforded a clue.

During the afternoon the little girl was removed to the union workhouse, and later in the day a telegram was received from the police at Farnedale stating that the parents of the child were living at 65, Duffryn-st., in that town.

In all probability "Lilly" has by this time been restored to her anxious parents.

Shipping.

The statistical summary of vessels totally lost, condemned, etc., just published by Lloyd's Register, shows that during 1898 the gross reduction in the effective mercantile marine of the world amounted to 1,141 vessels, of 820,725 tons, excluding vessels of less than 100 tons. Of this total 322 vessels, of 463,241 tons, were steamers, and 819, of 357,484 tons, sailing vessels. As regards steamers the present return exceeds the average of the preceding seven years by 56 vessels and 135,257 tons; with respect to sailing vessels it is below the average by 31 vessels and 28,551 tons. Similarly the figures relating to steam tonnage owned in the United Kingdom are above the average, while those relating to sailing vessels are below. The excess in the case of steamers follows on the great increase during recent years in the amount of steam tonnage afloat, and is partly attributable also to the amount of tonnage broken up, condemned, etc. Apart from cases which come within this latter category, the United Kingdom steam tonnage put during 1898 exceeds the average of the preceding seven years by about 23,000 tons, while the tonnage owned has increased since 1891 by nearly 24 million tons. The summary shows that stranding and kindred casualties which are comprised under the term "wrecked" are much the most prolific cause of disaster, accounting for 42 per cent. of the losses of steamers and 47 per cent. of the losses of sailing vessels. The next most frequent termination of a vessel's career is by condemnation, dismantling, etc.; about 20 per cent. of the vessels removed from the merchant fleets of the world are accounted for in this manner.

Of the remaining causes of loss, collision is the most general for steamers (15 per cent.), and abandonment at sea for sailing vessels (10 per cent.). Great as the absolute annual loss of vessels belonging to the United Kingdom appears to be (217 vessels, of 280,932 tons), it is seen to form a very moderate percentage of the mercantile marine of the country (2.40 per cent. of vessels owned and 2.23 per cent. of tonnage owned), and to compare favourably with the losses sustained by other leading maritime countries. The merchant navies which exceed a total of 1,000,000 tons are those of the United Kingdom, the British colonies, the United States, France, Germany, and Norway. Of these countries the United Kingdom shows the smallest percentage of loss, viz. 2.4 per cent. of the vessels owned, and Norway the highest with 3.95 per cent. As regards steamers, while the percentage for the United Kingdom stands at 2.05, the average of the percentages of loss for the other five countries is 2.58. For sailing vessels the other five countries show an average percentage of 7.24 as compared with 3.45 per cent. for the United Kingdom.

The Iron Market.

American advices now report the iron markets to be in a state of positive excitement. The output of pigs has been further increased, and there are 244 furnaces in blast as compared with 237 at the beginning of July, and with 200 at the beginning of January. The weekly capacity of the 244 furnaces is computed at 267,672 tons, which does not seem a very great increase if, as reported, 237 furnaces in July were turning out at the rate of 263,363 tons per week. Even at this rate, if preserved up to the end of the year, the promised 14 million tons will not be forthcoming. Meanwhile the stocks at works have run down to 1,268 tons, as compared with 427,081 tons on 1st March last, and there is practically nothing available in the Warrent stores. The price of Bessemer pigs has been advanced to $22.50 per ton at Pittsburgh, a price which may be compared with that of Cumberland Warrants, say 72s. 6d. The Carnegie Trust, and others, have just put up the prices of structural material another 85 per cent., and orders for rails, it is said, cannot be accepted for delivery more than twelve months. A contract for 6,000 tons of steel rails for Japan has been secured by an English firm at 2s. per ton under the lowest American tenders.

Output of Petroleum.

The Scotch mineral oil trade is now in a more prosperous condition than for a long time past. Higher prices are being obtained for all the products, but higher wages are having to be paid, and wages and coal are the chief items in the cost of production in the oil-works. The Scotch oil trade is a pigmy compared with the American and Russian petroleum industries, but it is not inconsiderable for all that. A proposed American newspaper has just been calculating that 5,000,000,000 gallons of petroleum are now produced annually in the world—and I am not disposed to question the approximate correctness of the calculation. The allocation of output would seem to be thus:—United States 2,500,000,000 gallons, Russia 2,250,000,000 gallons, Austria 80,000,000 gallons, Sumatra 72,000,000 gallons, Java 20,000,000 gallons, Canada 20,000,000 gallons, Roumania 20,000,000 gallons, India 15,000,000 gallons, Japan 8,000,000 gallons, Germany 7,000,000 gallons, Peru 3,000,000 gallons, Italy 1,000,000 gallons. This estimate, it will be seen, does not include the Scotch output of paraffin oil. America and Russia are nearly equal as to crude oil, but America turns far more of it to account for illuminating, the exports of burning oil last year being 99,973,000 gallons, or nearly three times the quantity of burner oil of the United States for mineral oil in the United Kingdom. 212,265,563 gallons in 1898, Germany 155,223,222 gallons, then Japan 53,308,115 gallons, China 44,193,552 gallons, Brazil 20,561,084 gallons, Australasia 20,493,398 gallons, and France 12,855,631 gallons. All other European countries took 200,431,316 gallons last year.
